Poff Sees No Taxes This Year

Rep. Bryan Poff said Wednesday he expects no new taxes to be levied on Texans this year, particularly in light of the Wednesday morning U.S. Supreme Court decision on the so-called Rodriguez case.

The nation's highest court reversed lower court rulings which would have meant an overhaul of Texas' school taxation system and which Poff had earlier predicted might cause a hike in taxes for state residents.

In a special to The News, Poff said he is happy with the court ruling, which was spurred by a San Antonio school district.

"The Supreme Court ruling has left the control of public school financing with the local boards where I think it should be," Poff said.

"I firmly believe public school education is a local responsibility and should be dealt with at the local level.

"This ruling makes it unlikely that new taxes will be necessary (See POFF, page 2)

Quick Results With SEEK

Mrs. Carl Baker used a free Seek ad Sunday and got results in about two hours.

She advertised a piano for $100 and sold it to Ron Kershen at 10:30 o'clock the same morning the paper came out.

Our check for $5 goes to Mrs. Baker for getting quickest results.

In the meantime, our free Seek ad promotion continues to help introduce the fastest little seller in the Panhandle, the little man who symbolizes Seek.

There have been a few mixups on our part as the promotion gets under way. Last Sunday, for instance, we left out 24 classifieds but they are in the paper today.

Mail or call in your Seek ad for Sunday in time for us to have it by 10 o'clock Saturday morning. If you are using the mail, try to get it to the post office as early as possible Friday.

You may telephone in ads until 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Deadline for the Thursday paper is 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Keep those Seek ads coming and help the little man get them up to 300.

'73 Budget Okay, Taxes Retained

The Canyon City Commission Monday night approved a budget for 1973-74, upped the city's share of subsidy for ambulance service, set a public hearing date regarding zoning of the Crow Addition and accepted bids for a bank depository and a new water well.

The present tax rate of $1.82 per $100 valuation based on 40 per cent of market value was also retained by the commission. The vote was unanimous.

The budget, with expenditures of $832,023 to leave a balance of $35,109, was approved without dissent after no one appeared at the scheduled public hearing.

The budget indicated revenues of $867,132, with $490,107 going into the general fund, $220,896 first day of spring in Canyon after a winter of perpetual snow with intermittent rains and winds.

New Hospital Could Avert Neblett Accreditation Crisis

The only thing saving Neblett Hospital from an accreditation crisis is a fast-approaching start on construction of Canyon's new 50-bed medical facility.

Neblett Administrator Ray Grimes said Monday night although an accreditation team from the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Hospitals spoke favorably last week of renewing their stamp of approval on Neblett, he has the definite opinion that the renewal would not come but for pending construction of a new hospital here.

Grimes told members of the South Randall County Hospital District board Monday "they're (the JCAH) getting ready to yank accreditation on us."

A two-member team consisting of a physician and hospital administrator visited Neblett last week in an annual survey. Last year, the commission accredited Neblett for only a single year rather than the standard two years.

"I sure hope they go along with us," Grimes said.

Grimes said the only major deficiencies found by the accrediting team last week were in the hospital's fire and safety standards.

"We would have lost it last year and the year before if we'd failed to make progress on the new building," Grimes said. "If we hadn't been striving to correct the deficiencies (through new hospital construction) they would not have accredited us any further."

"If we can salvage it this time, it will be on the same basis," Grimes said he is certainly optimistic the hospital will retain accreditation, but "you never know until you get their report," which is due in about two weeks.

During Monday night's hospital board session, Grimes said construction could begin on the new hospital to be located in East Canyon even before June 1.

Architect Bill O'Connell is to have final drawings to the board by April 1.

Grimes also reported he is optimistic about prospects for the hospital district receiving a good bond rating after a visit last weekend by several board members to New York City.

Mrs. Lois Hull, board president, said she felt the board's presentation was "well received" by two bond rating companies in New York.

The board hopes to issue $800,000 bonds to build the new hospital.

Ballot Box Closed To AISD Voters

Randall County residents in the Amarillo Independent School District will have only a limited voice in the election of county school board members on April 7.

That's the opinion of County Judge Woody Pond, who this week received several state attorney general opinions which simply substantiated the opinion he'd previously expressed.

Pond said after conferring with Dist. Atty. George Dowlen that he believes voters in the South Amarillo portion of Randall County will be able to vote only for an at-large county school trustee. And, there is no at-large candidate this year.

The county judge said a quirk in the state law allows county residents to vote in the school trustee election as long as they are living in the school district over which that county has control.

So, only those county voters who live in the Canyon Independent School District will be able to vote in the April 7 election to select two trustees to the county school board.

The law, Judge Pond says, apparently also gives Trustee Don Marsh life tenure. Marsh represents a South Amarillo precinct which is totally within the Amarillo school district.

Therefore, the judge reasons, nobody in his precinct can vote for or against him.

And, since the law stipulates that each precinct in the county must have a school trustee, Marsh is it—until he resigns or otherwise leaves office at which time the remaining trustees will appoint a replacement.

Mrs. K. Bert Watson is also up for re-election. Her precinct which is in the northeastern part of the county lies partly within and partly without the Amarillo school district.

$2 Million Plant Chooses County For Expansion

Construction of a $2 million equipment manufacturing industry in the northern part of Randall County is to be announced at 10 a.m. today in Amarillo.

The Canyon News learned Wednesday that the Amarillo Board of City Development along with Ernest Merritt, owner of Merritt Equipment Co. of Portland, Ore., will make joint announcement of the new industrial plant today.

The stock trailer manufacturing company will locate on a 150-acre plot of land on South Georgia St. just south of Hollywood Road in Randall County.

Construction on a 16-acre plant is expected to begin immediately.

The new industry is expected to employ 100 persons, most of them from the local labor market.

Announcement today of the new industry will be the third in recent weeks for the Amarillo area. The American Smelting and Refining Co. announced several weeks ago the location of a $100 million copper plant north of Amarillo. Earlier this week, another manufacturing firm announced location of a $1 million plant construction project for East Amarillo.

But, the announcement today is expected to be the first for Randall County in recent weeks. It is the first new major industry to locate in the county since the Santa Fe Railway announced last fall they will construct a rail welding plant on Washington Street in the north part of the county.

Two Canyon and county leaders hailed Wednesday today's expected announcement.

"We're certainly happy at the asset this will be to the county," County Judge Woody Pond said after The News told him of the impending announcement. "We'll be glad to cooperate with them or any other industry at any time."

"I know this will be a great asset for the area (See PLANT, page 10)

Price Of Meat Spurs Hike Bid

The sky-rocketing price of meat was brought home to Canyon School Board members Tuesday night when an Amarillo food distributor asked for a 20-cent per pound increase on meat he is supplying Canyon schools.

L. M. Cheek, president of San Jacinto Frozen Foods Co., cited the rising price of meat since December as basis for his request for an increase over his low bid price.

San Jacinto was named low bidder in December for supplying ground beef, meat patties, cubed beef, wieners, French fries and other frozen potato products.

Brandishing price lists he said were available in December and then this week, Cheek pointed to increases in meat prices and said at one point if the board holds him to his bid it would "put me out of business."

"When we bid on this back in December nobody could foresee the cost increase we'd have since that time," he said.

Cheek said some meat prices have jumped as much as 40 per cent since December.

"All I ask for is a break-even amount for the school operation," he said.

Cheek said most schools in the Panhandle let bids on meat items for their cafeterias several times during the school year. Canyon only seeks bids twice in a school year.

Through some rapid figuring, school officials determined that the increase requested by Cheek would cost an additional $1000 through the remainder of the school year.

School Supt. Jerry Jacobs warned that if an increase is allowed Cheek, school board members can reasonably expect to have other bidders return to seek increases as prices go up.

"I understand this is a drastic situation," Jacobs said, "but suppose the price went down quite a bit? What then?"

School Business Manager Ray Schultz was advised by board members to check with other schools in the area on meat prices.

Board members were also confronted with how to spend the $35,000 they set aside last fall when they raised their tax rate by 5 cents.

Principals of Canyon schools presented their suggestions for facility improvements.

John Sommer, high school principal, said first priority for his school is expansion of present library facilities which he said are pushing the standards set by the school accrediting agency.

Board members discussed the possibility of expanding the library by roofing the patio area in the center of the high school.

Sommer also listed as a need additional gymnasium, dressing facilities and storage area, and a vocational building located on the high school campus.

Board members gave only passing review of the latter items.

Principal Dave Corley of the junior high school said his top priority is construction of an outside door from the present boys'

Five-year-old Donna Sue Dolle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Dolle of Canyon, is a little wary of this week-old chicken as she picks him up. Donna Sue is one of 11 youngsters in the First Methodist Church kindergarten.

Which Came First--Chicken Or The Egg

The venerable question "Which came first, the chicken or the egg?" could be answered with a snap by 5-year-olds in the First Methodist Church kindergarten.

They are not, after all, philosophers and the empirical evidence chirping and flapping on their classroom floor would undoubtedly lead them to respond "The egg."

The 11 kindergartners of Mrs. J.C. Bellah witnessed the chicken, new and fragile, peek its way into the world from an egg recently. And, their reason for studying the phenomenon is hardly a philosophical one.

Mrs. Bellah believes that even children reared on today's farms have little chance of viewing one of the vital life processes firsthand.

"I wanted them to see where the chicken comes from," she said.

Last year with a different group of five-year-olds, Mrs. Bellah was able to incubate and the class was able to watch the hatching of three eggs—a goose egg, a duck egg and a chicken egg.

But, this year, Mrs. Bellah was unable to find fertile duck and goose eggs, so her class now has five lively baby chicks.

The five eggs were placed in an incubator in the kindergarten classroom Feb. 21 and there wasn't much excitement centered around the eggs until last week.

As fate would have it, four of the eggs found the most convenient time to hatch in the middle of the night when no one was around to see.

But, one little fellow de-

Longtime Coach Joe Kerbel Dies Tuesday In Arlington

The winningest football coach in West Texas State University history, Joe Kerbel, 51, who left Canyon not long ago, died Tuesday morning of an apparent heart attack at Arlington.

A requiem mass for Mr. Kerbel, who died while being taken to an Arlington hospital after being stricken at his home, was held Wednesday at a Dallas church.

The former WTSU head coach and athletic director who molded several great athletes as well as winning football teams here had lived in Arlington three months.

He had been district manager for a life insurance company in Dallas for eight months.

During his tenure at WTSU, Mr. Kerbel's Buffalo football squads compiled an impressive 68-42-1 record. He had coached at WTSU 11 years before he was released from his position in February 1971.

In 17 years as a head football coach, Mr. Kerbel's teams played 200 games and won 143 of them for a 70 per cent record of wins.

The Buffaloes had won only two games in the two years prior to Mr. Kerbel's arrival on the campus in 1960. From that low ebb he pushed them back into the national football picture.

Sometimes flamboyant and always controversial, Mr. Kerbel made winning a habit.

A native of Seminole, Okla., he served his coaching apprenticeship as an assistant at Bartlesville, Okla. High School for three

COVERING FUMBLE
by Dean Mitch Jones

The ultimate measure of a good story teller is our willingness to hear him tell a story repeatedly.

Overwhelming consensus of people with whom I have discussed the matter is that West Texas State University needs an administrator as its next president.

I am inclined to agree. WTSU is a political entity and its president should know how to meet with legislators and talk in their terms about the school's needs.

The person who heads WTSU should be one who lives in Canyon and knows the community's needs for it is here most of his faculty and administrators make their homes.

The university cannot be healthy and serve the Panhandle's needs unless it is situated in a city that is economically healthy. He should spend at least some of his time in keeping acquainted with Canyon and its leadership.

Canyon community does more per capita to support the programs of West Texas State University than any other community anywhere.

I cite the fund raising for the Nance Ranch project.

Canyon more than tripled its tentative goal of $5,000 by raising $17,000 in livestock, cash and pledges. If Amarillo had raised as much per capita, it would have brought in $250,000.

I'm not downgrading Amarillo or any other community. The university needs the entire Panhandle. I am merely pointing out to the next president of WTSU that Canyon is a proud community and should never be referred to as "South Amarillo."

We do our part and have since Canyon folks put together $100,000 in cold cash to bring the school here in the first place.

The next president of West Texas State University should be a man who knows something about public relations. He's not going to be able to exclude the news media from a meeting one day and then effectively persuade it to help him promote the school the next.

He must be a man who can evaluate people. With this quality he will be able to bring in the educators we need and keep the good ones we already have.

If he can do this he will need only be an educated man, not necessarily a scholar.

I agree with Tommy Thompson of The Globe-Times that one of the primary roles of WTSU should be to keep the Panhandle's brains in the Panhandle. I think the man I have described could fulfill that responsibility.

It's going to take more than WTSU to keep the youngsters here.

This is an exciting world and the Panhandle has to join the 20th Century. We are going to need industry to provide jobs. We are going to have to use the resources of our area.

An AT&T plant or a Ford plant would do about as much as anything to keep the kids here.

H. M. Baggarly of the Tulia Herald says the Nixon administration is made up of history's most accomplished psychologists.

What the North Vietnamese couldn't do in six years Baggarly gives Nixon credit for doing in less than a week — that is brainwashing the American POWs.

Baggarly implies that ranking officers returning from POW camps were taught to mouth Nixonian platitudes by rote.

While most Americans were tearfully thankful that the POWs were coming home at last, the editor from Tulia somehow smelled treachery in the White House because the President was able to effect their release.

I get the notion that no fault would have been found if the POWs had said "Thank you Jane Fonda. Thank you Ramsey Clark. Thank you Dr. Spock."

Every time I see a group of POWs coming down the ramp, I can't help thinking of Douglas MacArthur.

City, County Approve Ambulance Subsidy Hike

LaGrone Ambulance Service was voted increased subsidies Monday by county and city commissioners after owner Jerry LaGrone told them he can no longer continue to absorb the financial losses of running the service.

County commissioners voted a $150 per month raise and city commissioners voted a $225 per month raise in the subsidy the governmental units pay LaGrone for operating his ambulance service.

Total amount now to be paid by the county is $4680 and by the city is $10,000.

LaGrone appeared before county and city officials during their Monday meetings and briefly referred to a letter he had already sent the governments outlining his problems and costs of operation.

The ambulance company operator presented a financial statement which indicates a loss suffered by the company of $8,121 in 1972.

Even with the subsidy increases, LaGrone says in his letter he feels the service will still operate at a loss.

Commissioners in both governmental entities were curious about why the losses are suffered.

"Does the population not accept responsibility for their bills?" asked County Commissioner John Fulgenzi during an afternoon session.

"We have very little trouble collecting from local people in Amarillo or Canyon," LaGrone replied. "We do have a problem with college students and people just going through town. They're glad to see you at 2 in the morning but when they get to California, they forget about you."

LaGrone noted that the ambulance service made 223 calls during 1972, 135 of those in the city of Canyon and 88 in the rural area in the county.

"Everything we're buying is going up," he said. "Business is costing us more money. All our supplies are up and our salaries."

"I think you know," said Commissioner Bill Butler, "that we hate to pay this but it's very vital to the county. It's one of those things we've got to take care of. We sure don't want to be in the ambulance business."

Butler's comments were echoed during the Monday evening meeting of the Canyon city commission, when LaGrone again appeared seeking an increase in his subsidy.

Again LaGrone cited increased operating costs in telling city fathers of his need for a hike in payments.

"We are experiencing an increased cost in everything we buy," he said.

LaGrone said the federal wage and hour law had triggered a large increase in operating expense and that since Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo had been recently designated as the emergency receiving station for this area more trips are now being made to that city.

When asked by commissioners about collection problems, LaGrone reiterated his belief that local patients are quick to pay.

One reason the ambulance service requires subsidization, he said, is that not enough runs are made to pay overhead costs.

"We don't want to get into the ambulance business," Mayor Manly Bryan said.

torney fees encountered in taking court action against delinquent taxpayers, said Loudder.

According to Loudder, after the transfer of funds, all city departments will be "in the black" for the just ending fiscal year.

The First National Bank of Canyon was accepted as the city's depository in a vote taken after Dr. Willis Harrison and H. R. Fulton disqualified themselves due to their holding bank stock. Mayor J. Manly Bryan, also a bank stockholder, abstained from discussion of the bids but voted in order that notice could result.

The winning bid, submitted and explained by bank vice president David West, agrees to pay interest at the rate being paid on U.S. Treasury bills of similar maturity, current at the time of deposit.

The bank also agreed to pay a minimum interest rate of five per cent on all time deposits of 90 days or longer.

The only other bid for the depository was by West Texas State Bank. The bid, submitted and explained by bank president David Levens, ranged from an interest rate of 4 1/2 per cent on deposits left from 90 days to 179 days, up to five per cent on deposits for more than 540 days.

According to West, the bid for the city depository was similar, if not identical, to a bid accepted by Randall County Commissioners recently.

Water Industries Inc., of Hereford, was awarded the bid for a new water well to be installed at the city water field near Umbarger.

The Hereford company's bid was $27,277.50 and included the well, supply line, pump house and other related finishing touches.

The only other bid on the well was made by High Plains Drilling Co., of Abilene. Their bid was $33,899.60.

According to the winning bid, construction of the well is to be completed within 75 days from the letting of the contract.

Jerry LaGrone, of LaGrone Funeral Home, appeared before the commission regarding his request that the city increase its share of subsidy for ambulance service.

After LaGrone explained that rising costs and increased runs to Amarillo's area receiving center hospital has caused a loss of money, the commission voted to raise the subsidy from $7,300 to $10,000.

The commission also set April

County Hesitates On Truck

Randall County commissioners took a stand on consolidation of school districts, hesitated on a proposal to buy a fire truck for the city of Canyon and declined to hire a helper for County Treasurer Mrs. Ruth Hill during a Monday meeting.

Commissioners passed a resolution opposing a bill now before the legislature which would abolish 154 school districts in the state with fewer than 12 grades.

Royce Critsinger, president of the Wildorado School Board, presented the resolution to the commissioners, voicing unalterable opposition to the bill.

Noting that a portion of the Wildorado school district extends into Randall County and Deaf Smith County, Critsinger labeled the bill a move toward socialism.

"We don't feel it would better education at all," he said. "It won't lower anybody's taxes and basically it will mean more busing and less education."

Critsinger said the primarily rural Wildorado district supports a school with six grades. Children in another six grades attend school in Vega.

With passage of the bill, Critsinger said his own children would be bused 80 miles to and from Hereford to attend school. Currently, they are bused only 32 miles to and from school.

"I never did learn anything constructive riding a bus and I don't feel anybody else learns anything riding a bus," he said.

The resolution passed unanimously.

Later in the meeting, the commissioners were hardly unanimous in their support of the purchase of a new $33,000 fire truck for the City of Canyon.

City Manager George Loudder appeared before commissioners to discuss the purchase, which was first proposed several weeks ago.

Loudder reiterated his feeling that the only reason a new truck is necessary is because of the city's obligation to fight fires in rural Randall County areas.

He said the current fire truck in use for rural fires is not satisfactory for that function any more due to age.

He also reiterated city willingness to turn the old truck over to the county for placement and use in highly built-up areas in the county.

Commissioner John Fulgenzi voiced concern that if the county purchases a fire truck for the City of Canyon, it might also obligate itself to a similar purchase for the City of Amarillo.

Both Canyon and Amarillo provide fire fighting service for rural areas of the county on a contractual basis.

"Even though you are right, I can see what this other fire department could do to us," Fulgenzi said.

Loudder said the current city-county contract for providing fire service is based on services and "should be equitable for everyone."

"We're faced with an ever-increasing problem between here and Amarillo and I don't see any way to solve it unless the county enters into a deal to provide a truck," Loudder said. "I understand your point, but when you talk about the equity of the situation and the need of the people that has a bearing on it."

Loudder warned that if the city's volunteer fire department must continue to fight rural fires with outmoded equipment "the quality is going to fall off."

Commissioners asked Loudder to consult with Amarillo City Manager John Stiff about the Amarillo position should the county purchase Canyon the fire truck.

In other business, County Treasurer Mrs. Hill submitted a request for hiring of a helper in her office to be paid at the rate of $1.70 per hour.

When the request was passed around for signatures, none of the commissioners signed it.

"I don't want to sign it," said Bill Butler.

"The workload isn't that great," said Fulgenzi as he passed the request.

Mrs. Hill had requested help in her office several weeks ago and commissioner decision was delayed at that time.

She told The News later she feels she is being treated unfairly by the commissioners due to the workload in her office.

Commissioners also discussed insurance matters with Agents George Blackwell and Charles Fritch.

They passed a resolution proposed last week by Dist. Atty. George Dowlen supporting a bill now in the state legislature which would raise state funding for the criminal district attorney salary to $15,000.

The bill, Dowlen said, would save the county about $11,000 annually.

A resolution consolidating several county funds was also approved.

Commissioners reviewed a letter from Esco Elevators, Inc., which suggests the county do nothing about the leaky elevator in the north part of the courthouse.

The letter confirms that more than two gallons of oil are leaking from the elevator each month, but says the problem should not be solved until it worsens.

The letter will be referred to Dist. Atty. Dowlen for a review of the legal questions involved in county liability and elevator company responsibility.

laved his arrival until Mrs. Bellah's five-year-olds could form an audience.

"They actually saw the chicken coming out of the shell and they were so interested in it," she said.

A shy Kim Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ralph Stevens, described the first thing she saw coming through the shell as "a bunch of feathers."

The kindergarten class will keep the five chickens, which are now a part of the class, through this week and then turn them over to the area farmer who supplied the eggs.

Since their arrival, the new chicks have been fed, watered, watched and, of course, petted and cuddled by the kindergartners.

Mrs. Bellah plans to attempt the living lesson in nature again next year.

Camp Fire Girls Celebrate 63rd Year

By TOOTIE BYBEE
HELLO AGAIN MY friends. What a lovely day Sunday was. I believe everyone in the Park was out doing something. Mr. Hinson was out with his two little boys flying a kite. It was so sweet to watch the two little ones running after daddy and pointing up to the kite. Mr. Gafford was working in the yard with his little girl trailing around after him. Mr. Robinson was riding his motor and Nancy was enjoying her skate board. Roger Whitehead was working on his house with plenty of help from Spooky and Shelley. Troy Mitchell was either plowing his garden or watching his son-in-law do it. Not sure which. Guess I experienced one of the most different things in my life. Sam Clements, with help from all the kiddoes, showed me how their bird dogs point a bird. They have raised some Bobwhites to train the dog. Charley, to work and point out the bird. But will admit it was hard on the ole nerves since I have a true devotion to the lovely and delicate creature, the bird. Sam told me his female dog was expecting very soon and would probably have a neighborhood celebration, which I thought was fine as long as I was permitted to select the beverage to be served—ICE TEA! While at the Clements home I got to meet daughter Cathy and her fiancé, Bill. They are to be married in May, the 19th, I believe. So, all that is going on down there is looking at patterns and material and going berserk. The decisions had to be made this weekend as Cathy has to return to college to finish up for the year while mom Marion gets busy sewing.

MISS THE COLUMN last week due to a little trip and being ever so busy. The Youth Choir from our church went to Ft. Sumner and sang for the opening services of the revival there at First Baptist Church. Was so glad to see our ole friend Bro. Leroy Loper and the choir just did a beautiful job. They were all wearing their new choir dresses of yellow gingham and looked so very pretty. The boy's shirts should be finished very soon. Then the choir sang at Cliffside Baptist Wednesday night. So all those kiddoes have been busy. Those in the choir from the park are: Dana, Karen and Kay Tow, Sherry and Glenna Evans and Leslie Bybee. Also took Tammy Thompson along who is a choir member. Must tell you under the most weird circumstances I was able to add an Oriole nest to my bird nest collection. That is a story in itself. But all in all was a wonderful time with the bunch from Friendship Baptist. The Evans and Ann Tow also made the trip over to Ft. Sumner.

WANT TO THANK Mrs. Langen for inviting me to come and give my presentation on birds and their nests. Enjoyed being in a classroom again and that 4th grade group was just precious. They enjoyed the field trip to the fish shop the next day. Had about ten in our car and when they got out about three little boys could speak a little Spanish pretty good. Even got in a little pig-latin. So to Scott Davis, Tim Stokes and Rusty Riley: Oway reway ouyay?

WANT TO WISH the Camp Fire Girls of America and other nations a very happy 63rd birthday March 17. In celebration our group arranged a bulletin board display in the library of Gene Howe and presented birthday cakes to Mr. Lawless and Gene Howe teachers. Also, in great appreciation to Troy Martin and The Canyon News staff for all the publicity and help they have given us. So, hope if you are up at Gene Howe any time this week you'll notice the bulletin board and thank Miss Wilson and Mr. Lawless for letting us do this. The girls will celebrate along with their dads this Friday at the annual Dad and Daughter Banquet. Should be quite an affair.

THE THURSDAY LADIES Club has been moving right along in their study. And of course have been enjoying the get-togethers. The whole week seems to stop on Thursday as every one sews and talks and I write it all down for the paper. So, see you Thursday at Mike Whitehead's house.

SAW LEANN SHIVER the other day and said she had gotten to visit the Johnson's new "home" and it was just beautiful. That doesn't make it any easier to lose a good neighbor knowing they are resettling in a lovely and very much wanted place. But would love to see "the home" for myself and then decide if it is alright for them to move.

KNOW IT IS a little late but want to say how very much we all enjoyed the Miss Canyon Pageant. The decision was very difficult and all the young ladies were very lovely and much deserving. Thought Miss Donna Stark was a very lovely winner. Had pizza and good conversation afterwards with the Nances and Tows and two sweet contestants, Dana and Nina. To all of you girls, remember next year will be here soon. The Tows had visitors from Jal, New Mexico over the weekend. Ann's sister Jane and family, and Jimmy, Jill and Jerry Cowen.

CONGRATULATIONS TO BARBARA Brooks on winning

4th place in the Junior High Science Fair.

REMEMBER, IF YOU haven't gotten your Scout-O-Rama tickets Mike Morgan and Ronnie Kyle are still selling them.

HEARD THAT MIKE and Blanche Hudson went to a Quarter Horse Association Convention and took baby Kyle to grandmothers to stay for the week. Know they had a very good time but missed the baby boy an awful lot cause that is the first place they headed when they came home, to New Mexico to pick him up.

LOOKED LIKE A real good game of baseball was taking place over in the Brown's front yard the other day. Think I counted about five little boys and one pretty big one doing all the batting!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO J. Tow or is it?

WELL, WILL SEE YOU next week if all goes well.

About 60 business women attended the Fifth Annual Seminar of the National Secretaries Association held Saturday, March 17, at the Yum Yum Tree Restaurant. Mrs. Louise Gunther, Tierra Blanca Chapter president presided. Dr. Charles Townsend, Dr. Albert Mitchell, and Mrs. Sharon Brown were guest speakers.

Spelling Champ Ready For Regional Bee

By TROYCE MULHERIN

GREETINGS: ONE GENE HOWE family has the particular distinction of being the 1973 Poster Family for the Amarillo March of Dimes.

Linda and Mike Ferguson agreed to serve in such capacity by virtue of daughter Kelly being born with spina bifida. The two also "picked" em up and put "em down" for fifteen long long miles in the second annual "Miles for Children" Walk-A-Thon held last Saturday. Though five rest stops were made available to the walkers, Linda said she and Mike found it easier to hesitate at these stops only long enough to have their credentials signed and to get a drink. Stopping only served to make them aware of how tired they were getting. Talked with Linda Sunday, and the act of simply walking around the house was rather painful. Outside of creeping to the trash to dispose of her tennies, she was keeping such activity to a minimum.

WE HAVE UNTIL April 2 to turn monetary donations in to the March of Dimes as the result of this Walk-A-Thon. Give it some thought, and give it some money. In Linda's words, "You never think about something like this (birth defects) until it happens to you."

TIMELY ITEM: AMARILLO Area Council of the PTA is sponsoring a program Tuesday, March 27th, at the school administration building, from nine to eleven A.M. "Tomorrow Happens Today" is the title of the presentation to be given by Cheryl Sebastian, chapter executive of the Golden Spread of the March of Dimes. This is an open meeting to anyone desiring to attend.

CANYON HIGH SENIORS who have not yet sent in money for the senior class party functions need to make every effort to do so soon. Mail the same to Mrs. Carlos Wilhite, Route One, 202 Antoine, Canyon. The deadline for receiving these funds has been extended, and seniors desiring to get in on the partying fun take heed. A dinner party will be held at the Tascosa Country Club on May 18th, and an all night party will be held at the Y.M.C.A. in Amarillo on commencement night, May 29th. Jolly good times in store for participating seniors. Any parents of seniors who haven't yet been put down to be a party to these parties, may call Sherrie Cates at 355-2080. She will gladly help you find a place in which to share your time and talents.

JEFF SARTAIN'S SIX week's absence from school may seem behemoth. Jeff is feeling 100 per cent better and is anxious to get back in harness. Well, any way, he is anxious to see his school buddies again. Jeff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sartain and a fifth grade student of Mrs. Taylor at Gene Howe. Glad you are well on the road to recovery, Jeff. See you around the ol' school building soon. Hope, hope!

HOW ABOUT THAT Terry Rudd. Can't say that that finger-crossing campaign was as much help as studying them there spelling words, but our Terry marched off as top speller in the Canyon Bee. Terry, a sixth grade student of Mrs. Shoemaker at Gene Howe, won in the junior division. As winner, he was entitled to spell in the senior Bee. With the correct spelling of "psychological," Terry outspelled the seventh and eighth graders, becoming Randall County's representative to the regional Bee in Amarillo on April 28th. After that date, Terry may be going to Washington, D.C.

TERRY, THE SON of Barbara and B.L. Rudd, celebrated his wins with a bowl of watermelon and a day off from studying. Latest word (that's a pun) is that he will take charge of those advanced words as well as he has the "easier" ones. (If you should have any problems spelling, don't bother with good ol' Webster, call Terry. By the time for his possible trip to Washington, he will know how to spell anything and everything).

APRIL 28TH IS "Keep America Beautiful Day." Let's all do our part in making every day a "Keep America Beautiful Day."

THE BEAUTIFUL, LONG- stemmed red roses given to Sheila Burkett by hubby Jim, meant just as much, if not more to her as that piece of paper, declaring her to be a certified public accountant. Jim had the roses sent to Sheila's office last Monday, the day of the receipt of the certification. She knew she had the certificate coming, but the roses were a happy surprise. Congrats, Sheila.

THE PRETTY DEBBIE Ramaekers, a senior at Canyon High, did her mom and dad proud as a contestant in that "Miss Canyon Contest." All of us recognize her mom, Rosemary, as being a fourth grade teacher at Gene Howe, but it took a while for those of us in the back of the room to realize that these two loves were related. Proud pop and husband, respectively, is Vince.

DAVID BROMLEY, SON of Louise and Wesley, will become ten years of age on the 23rd. Happy birthday to you, David.

THE CHAMPION SIXTH grade basketball team coached by Delbert Tennison and Bob Ingram, marked the close of its successful season with a swim party at the Y.W.C.A. and a winner roast in Elwood Park last Saturday. Tim Trevathan, Kelly Dozier, Roby Ingram, Steve Schmidt, Terry Rudd, Kyle Balke, Monty Bell, Toby Cox and Terry Tennison presented coaches Tennison and Ingram with trophies in appreciation of their winning efforts. All these men managed to have lots of fun and come out on top, too.

THE LAST TIME Roy Cates officially owned up to having another birthday was the year he became 29. But, it is specifically noted on the band calendar that he is scheduled for another "day" on the 21st of this month. Now, Roy has been 29 for his fair share of years—the least he could do is be 32 for a while. Happy "32", Roy!

OUR SCOUTS AND Cub Scouts are getting ready for a humdinger Scout-O-Rama, to be held at the Amarillo Civic Center, Saturday, March 31st, starting at two o'clock. The boys will be demonstrating the skills they have acquired via scouting activities with the use of games, crafts and skits, and a display of their work. Actually, the entire presentation will be a pot pourri of scouting activities. All our Cub Scouts are presently engaged in selling tickets to the Scout-O-Rama. Oh, yes, a parade in downtown Amarillo will precede the civic center activities. Be fun to join in on both the parade and the Scout-O-Rama.

TEENA AND RICKY Berry celebrated their birthdays this past weekend with a picnic in Palo Duro Canyon. About fourteen of their friends added to the festivities and helped with the cake eating part of the program. Teena became eleven years old on the 17th; and Ricky is aging rapidly, becoming fourteen this Saturday. Teena and Ricky are the children of Brenda and Luther Lawless. Many happy to you both.

BARBARA BERRY WILL celebrate her birthday on the 25th with a family party. May all your wishes come true, Barbara.

TODD TRUE, SON of Dan and Betty True, totted off to Shamrock with his dad for the festivities there on his eleventh birthday on the 17th. Though he had been invited many times before, this is the first year Todd has been able to share his birthday partying with St. Patrick on his day.

MEANWHILE, BACK AT the homefront, mom Betty spent the day working on her broomstick afghan. The nostalgia fad has brought Betty to this turn of events. Seems the pioneer ladies whiled away some time using an honest-to-goodness broomstick to make lace. Loops of yarn are made on the broomstick and then crocheted off in multiples of five. (Modern math classes help in this phase, base five). Betty says, repeat, Betty says, the whole procedure is "so simple" to do, and it goes pretty fast. Not only that, the results are lovely. (This part is easier to have complete faith in—the "simple and fast" parts are direct quotes).

TIME TO VOTE is rapidly approaching. April 7th is the big day for voting for our representatives to the Canyon School Board. On Monday, March 26th, "Candidates Night" will be held at the Canyon Community Center. Those in attendance will be given an opportunity to meet with the school board hopefuls, and candidates will be given an opportunity to express their views and answer any questions presented from the audience. Time for the action to start is 7 p.m.

AT LEAST TWO of the candidates are very familiar to Gene Howlanders. Mrs. Pauline Hefley is a past president of Gene Howe Parent Teacher Association and possessor of many laurels achieved in the business world. Harold Erwin is an incumbent candidate who farms and ranches in the Gene Howe territory.

BALLOTING FOR TWO positions on the county school board is also scheduled for April 7th. Charles Purcell, another Gene Howe area candidate is seeking election to this trusteeship.

SINCE APRIL 7TH is a Saturday, and since a lot of would-be voters may be out of town, etc., check to see if you qualify to vote absentee and do so, if you do. Got that? Absentee voting opened Monday in the school district tax office in the Randall County Courthouse and will end April 3. Applications may be obtained from the school tax assessor-collector.

THESE ARE IMPOR- TANT ballots to be cast on April 7. No one wants to miss being a part of something this important. So, make your vote count, and the thing has to be cast before it can be counted.

KODY PATTERSON IS a very enjoyable houseguest. He spent a few days with us while his mom and dad took a quick trip to Colorado. Mrs. Patterson's mother is doing well following recent surgery, and her spirits definitely lifted with a visit from La Ruth.

TYRON WALKER WEL-COMED his birthday with the kind of enthusiasm only a five year old can engender. Steven McBride, Billy Porter, Burk Bristow, Melanie Arnett, Kendra Finley and Jeffery Bonner gleefully took part in the party games, cake and ice cream eating, and present opening. Mrs. Alta Dene Young assisted with her nephew's party games and plans. Tyron's mom, Shirley, has decided to start resting up now in preparation for a rerun next March 15.

THANK YOU, DIANE. THANKS FOR THE use of the hall. Troyce — 352-6053

New Brochure Cites Canyon

A new brochure with the title "This is Panhandle Playground" has been issued chambers of commerce in the Panhandle area and includes descriptions of attractions in the Canyon area.

The brochure was prepared by the Panhandle Playground Association of which Canyon is a member.

Attractions listed for Canyon are Palo Duro Canyon State Park, Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge, Panhandle Plains Historical Museum and the musical-drama "TEXAS."

Golfers 7th In Tournney At NMSU

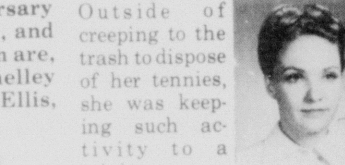

West Texas State's golf team got off to a slow start in the New Mexico State University golf tournament this past weekend, but rallied to earn seventh place in the 17-team field.

The Buffaloes were 14th after the opening 18-hole round, but rebounded the second day to the 10th position and moved up to seventh on the final day.

Jerry Boeka placed 12th among individuals as he shot rounds of 78, 72 and 76 for a 226 total. Dick Weston, playing in his first tournament of the spring, came back on the final day for a 74, after shooting rounds of 77 and 76 to finish with a 227 score.

Other Buffalo scores were Randall Burton 234, John Hood 240, Andy Lawler 244 and Rickey Piersall 250.

The Buffaloes now have off until April 6-7 when they compete in the Oklahoma Baptist College Invitational at Shawnee, Okla. They close their season May 19-20 at the Missouri Valley Conference meet in Las Cruces, N.M.

Our warmest thanks to all the Canyon businessmen and women who have so generously supported us in our fund-raising projects to benefit the nursery at Neblett Memorial Hospital.

We could not have had success without your help.

Thank you.

St. Ann's Women Hear About PTA

St. Ann's Women met March 13 at the home of Mrs. Nancy Shehan, 2615 12th Ave., to discuss plans for future events.

The group decided to send delegates to the Catholic Women's District Meeting in Hereford on April 4. They also discussed work on a new altar cloth, Easter banner, and carpet for the sanctuary.

The women agreed to assist Rev. Gist by hosting the Amarillo Priests Association in May. Plans were also made for the annual Celebration for the Passover Meal with a potluck dinner on the evening of April 18 at the Canyon Community Center.

A program on the need for a parent-teacher association in Rex Reeves Elementary School was presented by Mrs. Ann Carlisle. In addition, Susan Dolle spoke out about abortion and need for the Christian community to be firm in its pro-life position. Some of the women agreed to send position letters to their legislators.

Along The Grapevine

By Mary Alice Hines

WE HAVE BEEN fortunate to have many active organizations working to improve Canyon. The Chamber of Commerce, civic groups, study clubs, sororities, etc., have service projects that elevate the quality of life in our town. Now forming is an organization of possibly fifty young women who will be contributing at least 18 hours of their time to a community project.

THE MAJOR PROJECT selected by this group, the Canyon Junior Forum, at their formation meeting Sunday was an involvement in the Canyon school system as teacher's aides. Imagine how valuable about 50 volunteers will be to the schools. Superintendent Jerry Jacobs was very enthusiastic about the project.

Canyon Study Club Focuses On Texas

Canyon Study Club toured historical exhibits at the Panhandle Plains Museum as part of their program on Texas at Tuesday night's meeting.

Museum director Doane McClure spoke to the group on the history of the Panhandle and conducted them on a tour of "Pioneer City." Afterwards, the women assembled at the First National Bank building to hear Mrs. Martha Sheets give a biography of artist Harold Bugbee.

Carrying out the evening's emphasis on Texas, members answered roll call by naming the spot each thought most beautiful in Texas. Mrs. Treasure Brasher led the singing of "The Eyes of Texas."

Hostesses for the meeting were Mmes. Charlotte Carr, Sandra McRoberts, Sue Hooper, and Suzy Landy.

Canyon Study Club's next meeting will be April 17 in the home of Mrs. Patsy Kendrick, 718 Foster Lane.

THE GROUNDWORK HAS been laid for the chartering of the group. Election of the officers will take place at the next meeting of the Junior Forum. We will be hearing great things from this energetic and community-minded group.

THE A. W. LAIRS, the Jack Taylors and Mrs. Kathy Adams have returned from a fabulous trip to Costa Rica, Central America. The group flew to Mexico City, where they stayed a few days before flying on to Panama City, Panama.

THEY TOOK A train to Colon on the Pacific Ocean. Jack and A. W. did some deep-sea fishing and river fishing. The group flew to San Jose, the capital city of Costa Rica. The town is nestled in the mountains. A. W. said it is not too commercialized yet, but it is becoming more modern. Hopefully it will not become a tourist trap. San Jose has a Mac-Donalds and a Pollo Fritos Kentucky (the Colonel's own.) The group took a Volkswagen bus to Puerto Limon. Sounds like a wonderful vacation.

I ASKED A. W. how his son, Mark, was doing in his tournament bridge career. He said Mark had won two silver trophies in the Spring Sectional Duplicate Bridge Tournament in Mexico City. He has one coming up in Albuquerque next week. Mark is leading the McKinney Race, a contest to determine the best duplicate bridge player in the world. Keep up the good work, Mark.

THE CANCER DRIVE is getting ready to kick-off. The advance drive had already started and the Campaign Drive will be April 3. Whenever a representative of the American Society calls on you, please be generous. We need to lick this killer and we are getting close to doing it. Cures for several forms of cancer have already been found. Your contribution to the cause is to get regular check-ups for early detection of cancer and give your check to help finance research. A portion of the money collected in Randall County will be retained to help our own cancer victims. If you want information concerning this please contact the American Cancer Society, 374-8802.

EVERYONE NEEDS TO make an effort to attend the Candidates Night on March 26 at 7:00 p.m. at the Community Center. We need to find out what these candidates stand for and study the issues so we can cast an educated vote in the coming election.

WAYNE SIMS GAVE me the Grand Tour of the new Panhandle Savings and Loan. It is really a beautiful office. Be sure to go to the Grand Opening starting April 3 and register for the color television to be given away.

EUGENE AND ZELMA Noel recently returned from the Big Bend country. They found some outstanding rocks for their collection. Gene polishes rocks as a hobby and Zelma has a mineral collection.

THAT'S ALL FOR now, let me know if you have some news.

Jowell HD Club Discusses Thread

A program on "Sewing threads" was presented by Mrs. Jim McManigal to Jowell Home Demonstration Club at their March 14 meeting in the home of Mrs. Ervin Davis.

Mrs. McManigal said that thread choice should depend on such factors as appearance, strength, elasticity, and fiber. Knits require thread with elasticity.

Mrs. Jimmy Dietz, giving Council report, reminded women of a tasting tea to be held in May and a training meeting on "Care of Cookware," set for April 30 at 2 p.m. in the Farm Bureau Building. Others present at the meeting were Mrs. Pete Leavitt, Mrs. F.E. Culp, Mrs. Earl Davis, and Mrs. Bob McCasland.

The club will next meet on April 11 in the home of Mrs. Bob McCasland.

SPRY Luncheon Scheduled Today

SPRY Club will have a covered-dish luncheon at 11:30 a.m. today at the First United Methodist Church. Card games, handwork, and visiting will be enjoyed afterwards.

Everyone is welcome to attend SPRY meetings. Those needing transportation may call 655-3540.

ing her on publication of her twentieth book, "A Bluebird Will Do," was Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State University.

Writer Erdman's Latest Book Celebrated With Reception

Loula Grace Erdman, writer-in-residence at West Texas State University, was honored at a reception marking publication of her twentieth book, "A Bluebird Will Do," Sunday afternoon at Houghton House in Amarillo.

Well over 300 friends and admirers of her books, including Dr. James Cornette, president at WTSU, called to congratulate her at the event hosted by Writers Association of the Golden Spread.

Miss Erdman stated that the reception brought back rich memories to her of publication of her first book "Separate Star" in the same week of March in 1944. The floral centerpiece topped with a bluebird at Sunday's reception was arranged in the same bowl that held flowers at the celebration of "Separate Star's" publication.

Since her first book appeared on the market nearly 30 years ago, the Panhandle author has won wide acclaim as a writer of fiction and non-fiction. Her second book, a novel entitled "The Years of the Locust," was awarded the $10,000 first prize in a contest jointly sponsored by Dodd, Mead Publishers and Redbook magazine. It and other volumes have been translated into Dutch, German, Arabic, Bengali, Urdu, and Pakistani languages.

Loula Grace Erdman has been called "the major Panhandle Plains regional writer" by Southwestern American Literature Magazine, and she has been made subject of a special volume in the Southwest Writers Series published by the University of Texas.

The works of the award-winning novelist are valued for authenticity of historic detail. "The Edge of Time" fictionalizes the settling of the Panhandle with convincing realism. Amarillo in by-gone days figures in several of her works.

Her books are painstakingly researched. "I began gathering material for 'A Bluebird Will Do' in 1967," said Miss Erdman. "I journeyed to Panama, toured the Isthmus, and did extensive work in the Panama City Library. I also went to San Francisco where the Society of Pioneers was very helpful to me, and I did research in the New York City Public Library."

The WT writer-in-residence values her role as author. Her award-winning book, "A Time To Write," tells of her experiences as a writer and teacher. A Reader's Digest article, "I Am A Teacher," is widely used in teacher training courses. Hardly a high school library in the nation is without one or two of her novels, popular on the reading lists of English teachers.

Loula Grace Erdman, when not authoring books and articles, teaches an advanced creative writing course in the English department at West Texas State University which attracts both established authors and aspiring new talent of the region.

Charles Bohlen

U.S. Diplomat In WT Speech Next Week

A retired diplomat who during the 1950s and 60s was a top United States Kremlinologist will speak at 8 p.m. March 29 at West Texas State University.

Charles "Chip" Bohlen, a ranking diplomat under six presidents, is sponsored on campus by the WTSU Special Programs Committee. He will lecture on American-Soviet relations.

Bohlen retired in 1969 as the highest-ranking career diplomat in the State Department. He was one of the last active diplomats of the small number of Kremlinologists who helped interpret Russian power plays and shape U.S. response during the post-war years.

Bohlen began his foreign service career in 1929 as third secretary and vice consul at Prague.

He served as acting secretary of state between the time President Nixon took office and the Senate approved appointment of William P. Rogers to the post.

He recently completed a book, "The Transformation of American Foreign Policy."

Mrs. Janssen Is Club Hostess

The home of Mrs. James Janssen was the setting for the regular meeting of the Highland Home Demonstration Club on March 14.

Those attending were members, Mmes. Clarence Howard, Ervin Podzemny, Bob Podzemny, Melvin McClure, Jones Hales, Fred Oglesby, Boyd Elliott, and Mrs. Janssen. Mrs. Red Doyle, who plans to become a member, was a special guest.

The club's next meeting will be on March 28 in the home of Mrs. Siegfried Bolte in Umbarger.

Canyon Girls In FHA Talent Show

Nina Nance of Canyon High School and Kim Steelman of Canyon Junior High School represented their Future Homemakers of America organizations in a talent show held in Lubbock Friday and Saturday in connection with an Area 1 convention.

According to school homemaker instructors, 41 students, advisors and parents from Canyon attended the conference.

Area 1 is comprised of schools from throughout the Panhandle. Unlike in past years, the talent show was not on a competitive basis but the Canyon entrants said they wanted to enter just for the experience of performing before large audiences. One school spokesman said the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium was filled to capacity by F.H.A. members, advisors and parents. Only students ranked in the top 25 per cent of their class were in attendance at the conference.

WTSU Professors Attend Conference

Dr. Pat Sullivan, head, and Dr. Russell Sparling, assistant professor, of the English department at West Texas State University, have just returned from the Texas Conference of College Teachers held this past weekend in the Hilton Hotel in Dallas.

Dr. Sullivan was named a member of the Executive Council at the Dallas meeting.

Dr. Sparling attended a planning meeting on American literature for the Bi-Centennial while at the conference. In connection with the Bi-Centennial, he will be planning with Dr. Michael Green of the history department, an interdisciplinary course to be offered at WT next fall on "The American Dream."

Kenneth Hammons, who operates a new Canyon business, shows one of the prizes his firm specializes in providing for area rodeo clubs. The new business is Shannon Engraving and Rodeo Enterprises.

Promotion Of Rodeos Is New Firm's Goal

Another new business is headquartered in Canyon. Shannon Engraving and Rodeo Enterprises is a service-oriented firm headed up here by Kenneth Hammons, who is also night dispatcher for the Randall County sheriff's office.

Hammons' business began several weeks ago as an engraving firm, engraving for trophies and other items.

But, recently, the firm has expanded and now offers area rodeo clubs a package deal on promotional activities, trophies, saddles and printed programs for rodeos.

So far, Hammons says his company has handled five area rodeos, supplying everything from programs to trophy belt buckles.

Right now, the business is primarily concerned with handling high school rodeos.

For example, Hammons will handle promotion and prize arrangements for high school finals to be held in Amarillo in April.

For Hammons, the rodeo promotion business gives him a chance to freshen his attitude about young people.

Eagles Rap Dons For Fifth Win

The Canyon High School baseball Eagles, using a first-inning outburst, good pitching and a tight infield, downed the Palo Duro Dons Tuesday by a score of 4-2.

Canyon jumped out in front with a four-run barrage in the first. After leadoff hitter Wayne struck out, Ed Lair was safe on the first of four Don miscues and Gary Gerber picked up a free pass. Ronnie Cates rapped a two-bagger, sending Lair and Gerber across the plate. A double by Doug Day scored Cates and then King was safe on an error, with Day racing home with the final Eagle tally of the inning and the game.

Despite several threats made throughout the game by the Dons, hurler Raby Rath held onto the lead by scattering nine hits and six walks while striking out eight.

The Dons picked up their markers with single scores in the third and sixth innings.

One of the most severe Don threats came in the second frame when they went down with the bases loaded. The first of Canyon's two double plays had helped stall scoring in that inning. The second twin-killing ended the game, giving the Eagles their fifth win against four losses.

Coach Bob Sloan said Rathliff "pitched real well" and he credited the infield with their best effort of the young season. "They looked much better," said Sloan.

Bill Moore, who has a one-hitter to his mound credit, had been scheduled to pitch against the Dons but he missed the game due to being enroute to Arlington to attend the funeral for former West Texas State University coach Joe Kerbel who died early Tuesday morning.

"We dedicated the game to Joe Kerbel," said Sloan. Sammy Kerbel, son of the former WTSU coach, had been a senior student and athlete at Canyon High School until transferring to Arlington at the end of the first semester.

In Monday's action at Pampa, the Eagles got good pitching from Scott Keeling as he gave up only four hits, three walks and whiffed six.

Doug Day whipped out a three-bagger and Ed Lair came through with a two-base hit for Canyon's only extra base effort. Lair's double came in the first inning and put the Eagles out in front, scoring Bill Moore who had singled.

Despite the 4-2 loss, coach Sloan called Keeling's work "one of the best pitching efforts of the year." He included it in with a one-hitter thrown by Moore earlier in the season.

In their consolation win last Saturday at the Hereford tourney, the Eagles racked up nine runs on nine hits while making a pair of boots asfield. Dumas, their victim in the tourney, chalked up their five runs on seven hits while making two errors.

Against Dumas at Hereford, Lair went all the way on the mound, with Moore handling the catching chores. Ronnie Cates pumped out a pair of three-baggers and Lair added another blow good for three bases.

On Saturday, the junior varsity baseball team will play a doubleheader at Plainview and the varsity will see action Tuesday when they visit Amarillo High School for a single encounter.

CJHS Cycle Victim Still Said Critical

Shellye Carroll, 14-year-old eighth grade student at Canyon Junior High School who was injured in a motorcycle mishap at Dumas Sunday, remained in critical condition at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo Wednesday.

According to hospital spokesmen, Miss Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Carroll of 4416 Gary Lane in Amarillo, suffered a broken neck.

She was injured about 2:30 p.m. Sunday while racing her cycle at the Dumas Motorcycle Track, described as a cross-country course with various hazards. Witnesses said she apparently lost control of her machine on a curve and ran off a 15-foot cliff-like embankment.

One source said she was still astride the cycle when it crashed

WT To Sponsor Art Exhibit

Artist Doris Boles of Wichita Falls will be featured in an exhibition scheduled to open April 1 at West Texas State University.

Mrs. Boles is illustrator supervisor in the United States Air Force School of Applied Aerospace Science at Sheppard Air Force Base. Prior to her position at Sheppard, Mrs. Boles was employed as a commercial artist.

The show will open with a reception from 2-5 p.m. in the formal lounge of the Fine Arts Building. Exhibit hours thereafter will be from 3-5 p.m. weekdays and Sundays through April 14. The show will be closed on Saturday (April 7).

A native of Randlett (Okla.), Mrs. Boles lived in that area until 1953 when she moved to Wichita Falls. She is a member of the Wichita Falls and Texas Fine Arts Associations.

She has won awards in area and state competition and was honored last April with a one-man show at the Woman's Forum Art Gallery. Her paintings are also in numerous private collections.

Mrs. Boles has been drawing and painting for about 18 years, working with India ink for technical illustrations and with other media for fine arts works.

She prefers oil painting, she says, but also experiments with media and techniques that are "original and unconventional." Among them are her "plastic" paintings which are executed by scattering crushed bits of household plastic—including cottage cheese cartons and medicine bottles—over a non-objective acrylic painting. The painting is then placed in a portable electric boiler to melt, followed by a second working in acrylic. The effect, she says, is one of "jewel-like" iridescence.

The artist's subjects are portraits, still lifes and, most of all, landscapes which she says she often does from memory and imagination. "Inspiration," she says "comes from a lifelong appreciation of the subtle beauty of North Texas and Southern Oklahoma."

She will be represented in the show by about thirty paintings, some of which have been loaned by present owners for exhibition.

Mrs. Boles is the sister of Mrs. Dale Killingsworth of Canyon.

Canyon Future Farmers of America members who last weekend took top honors in judging dairy cattle at Sweetwater are David Hinders, Steve Ross, Wade Wilhelm and Mike Kelly. With the champions is agriculture instructor, Jim Walker. As a team, the Canyon group won over 83 other schools from across the state, and young Ross took top individual honors over 290 contestants.

Track Squad To Compete With Tech

After placing third in the five-team University of Texas at Arlington Invitational last week, the West Texas State track squad competes Saturday afternoon in the Texas Tech Mini-Relays at Lubbock.

As Texas Tech is having a new track constructed, the meet will be held at the Lubbock High School track, Chapman Field.

The Buffaloes placed behind Oklahoma State and Louisiana Tech in Saturday's meet at Arlington, but defeated Texas Tech and host UT-Arlington.

Tech, UT-Arlington, Lubbock Christian College and Wayland Baptist College will be other schools entered in the Mini-Relays. No points will be kept, but awards will be given to the winners of each race.

The meet will feature four relays — 440 and 880-yard relays, mile relay and two-mile relay.

West Texas State's ace sprinter Tracy Dickson, who injured his knee playing handball last week and missed the Arlington meet, is expected to run Saturday, but coach Bob Kitchens is not sure yet just how much the Lockney junior will be able to do Saturday.

English Scholar To Be Speaker Today At WTSU

A former Canyon resident and professor at West Texas State University will return to the campus Thursday and Friday to deliver a series of lectures.

Dr. Arlin Turner, professor of English at Duke University, will speak to Sigma Tau Delta, national English honor society, at 7 p.m. Thursday in room 401 of the university complex south. He will also talk informally with interested faculty at 1 p.m. Friday on Scholarly Writing on American Literature.

Dr. Turner, whose many published articles center around Nathaniel Hawthorne and his writings, is a 1927 graduate of WTSU. He received his doctorate at the University of Texas and returned to Canyon to teach English at WTSU in 1934.

Energy and Sense of Purpose Needed in Career of Homemaking Teacher

Being a good homemaking teacher is more than knowing how to cook and sew.

Ask Lanette Whitley, young homemaking teacher now winding up her second year at Canyon Junior High School.

In the first place, you take one part dedication.

"It wasn't just the skills of homemaking that interested me in this as a career, but the home itself," she said, stressing the word "home." "The home is the center of society, and we always have to be conscious of how to make it better."

Then you combine that with a heaping supply of energy. Mrs. Whitley has five classes of ninth-grade homemaking a day, and sponsors an active Future Homemakers of America Club besides. A lot of extra hours are spent in planning schedules, shopping for supplies, and making out the financial reports entailed in vocational teaching.

Add a dash of strong will — because there is a right way to do most things in the home, from putting in a hem to setting a table. The homemaking teacher has to see to it that her girls produce garments and dishes they can be proud of.

A smattering of patience is important, too. There are a lot of questions to be answered, and young hands new at a job make mistakes.

Of course, a lot of education and training goes into this recipe for a good homemaking teacher also.

Oddly enough, Lanette Whitley didn't decide on a homemaking teaching career until her junior year at Baylor University. Nor, in fact, did she take any homemaking courses in junior or senior high school.

"I went to a small high school, numbering 150 students, in Crowell, Texas, and homemaking was not offered in our junior high. I wanted to major in piano. I tried to major in piano at Baylor University but the isolation and competition didn't go along with my personality."

Even though she had no homemaking classes before, as a college student Mrs. Whitley was drawn to take electives in homemaking. She had always liked to cook, and a neighbor in Crowell had taught her to sew.

"The homemaking building at Baylor was a little two-story white house with green shutters — and it attracted me somehow," she explained with womanly logic.

"After I got involved, I loved everything I took. There are so many aspects of homemaking, and you get a wide variety of courses. We had Consumer Education, Tailoring, Home Management, Child Development and other courses I had never dreamed were included in homemaking." She got to know the seven instructors well in the small department at Baylor and still corresponds with some of them.

But the young homemaking teacher's first experience in teaching was under difficult and turbulent conditions. "The court-ordered busing of students to that particular school was not good, and the students were rebellious. Neither white nor black teachers could communicate with them. I am just grateful I got the chance next semester to teach in Canyon where such problems do not exist, or I might not have taught again," she commented.

Mrs. Dennis Whitley in private life, she is the wife of an aspiring coach. A Baylor graduate also, her husband works with Gene Mayfield at West Texas State University as a graduate assistant and also is employed at the Swisher County Feed Yard.

One of the enjoyable parts of Mrs. Whitley's work this school year has been sponsoring the Future Homemakers of America Club. One of their large projects has been collecting, sorting, laundering and mending clothing for a children's orphanage in Viet Nam. "We sent 32 boxes of clothing at an average cost of $3.50 a box," she said, and added that more clothing was packed and ready to ship next school year.

Mrs. Whitley first learned of the project through a program presented in her Sunday school class at First Baptist Church by Col. John Childs. The tapes and slides had been prepared by Col. John Osborne, a Canyon man then serving near the orphanage.

Explaining the FHA program, she said, "We have an Encounter Program that is taking the place of degrees. This is a personal growth program for individual work in FHA. The girls set their own goals for themselves for the year. This year has been a year of self study. Some have set the goal of losing weight or improving their fingernails — some have set goals in their spiritual lives, such as reading a book of the Bible each week."

As an incentive, the top 25 percent earned in points the right to go to Lubbock the weekend of March 16 and 17 to attend the Regional FHA Convention. Later on, the two top point earners will go to the State Convention in San Antonio.

Mrs. Whitley feels that girls take naturally to homemaking and plunge eagerly into the activities involved. "I think a majority of women are geared to be homemakers and mothers... It is possible for some women to com-

Mrs. Lanette Whitley is the busy homemaking teacher at Canyon Junior High School. She instructs five classes of girls in cooking in the fall and sewing in the spring and sponsors a Future Homemakers of America Club.

No Votes Cast Absentee Yet

Officials from the city, school district and hospital district are still waiting for their first absentee voter.

Absentee balloting for the April 3 city commission election began last week and City Clerk Bob Moore reports no one has yet voted by the absentee route.

Absentee voting for the Canyon School Board, Randall County School Board of Trustees and the South Randall County Hospital District Board elections, scheduled for April 7 opened Monday, but officials report no voters, either.

Absentee balloting for the city election ends in about two weeks. Absentee balloting for the school boards and hospital board elections end in early April.

Absentee ballots for the city commission election may be cast by making application with Moore at city hall.

Balloting for the school and hospital board elections may be accomplished at the school tax assessor office in the county courthouse and Neblett Hospital respectively.

Two places are open April 3 for the city commission. Incumbents

Two places are also open on the Canyon School Board. Incumbents Richard Pruett and Harold Erwin seek re-election. They will be challenged by Mrs. Pauline Hefley, Dr. Wallace Johnston, Dr. Hiram Carr, Dr. J.L. Markham and David Kent.

Two places are open on the County Board of School Trustees. Incumbents Don Marsh and Mrs. K. Bert Watson seek re-election. Mrs. Watson will face challenger Charles M. Purcell as she seeks a return to her place.

Incumbents Mrs. Lois Hull, Bill Sternberg, Vernon Harman, and O.H. Rahlfs seek re-election to the hospital district board. Only challenger is George Blackwell.

Senior Recital Is March 30 For Rick Land

Organist Rick Land, West Texas State University senior, will be featured in recital at 8 p.m., March 30, at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Amarillo.

Land, a student of Mary Ruth McCulley of the WTSU music faculty, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Z.L. Land of Route 2, Amarillo.

His program will include Bach-Briggs' "Two Fanfares and Chorale," "Saint-Saens' "Fantaisie in E flat Major," Bach's "Variations on 'Glory to God on High,'" Franck's "Priere" and John Cook's "Fanfare."

Also programmed are three hymn tunes, including Vaughan-Williams' "Prelude on 'Rhosymedre,'" Paul Manz's "Suite for Organ" and Gerald Near's "Sarabande on 'Land of Rest.'"

The recital is being presented in partial fulfillment of the graduation requirements for the Bachelor of Music Education degree in organ.

Umbarger News Joe Fischbacher Reports On Switzerland

By REBA RAEFGREETINGS, FROM UMBARGER. We've been laid up with a bad knee for some ten days, so our news all had to be gathered by way of the telephone this week.

WE FINALLY GOT out to visit Joe and Glennis Fischbacher and hear about Joe's recent trip to Switzerland. He flew from New York to Geneva, Switzerland, then by plane to Zurich, and then by car to Balzerswil, where he stayed with relatives. Joe said that the flight from Geneva to Zurich, which is all the way across Switzerland, took only about 30 minutes, so Switzerland is a very small country. It is about the size of the combined areas of Deaf Smith, Oldham and Carson Counties.

Wesaw the film that Joe took and it is just beautiful. It is very mountainous, lots of trees and very winding roads. Joe said that they have good highways, similar to our freeways, the largest being the autobahn. Switzerland is predominantly Catholic, and according to Joe, their churches are truly works of art. He visited the Church at Einsiedeln, one of the largest Catholic churches.

IN ZURICH, THERE is an underground shopping center, about the size of Amarillo's largest shopping centers, and on the ground above there are large buildings, trolley car tracks, and streets heavy with traffic. Joe said that he never did figure out just how the ground was supported. The highways have many tunnels, under the mountains, and all of them have fresh air circulated through them at all times. Joe said that when you drive through the country side, you leave one little village, and go right into another. These little villages are called "dorfs," and from the films, they are very picturesque.

JOE VISITED THE ski resorts and said that the cars, that take the skiers up the mountain, hold 125 people. He said, that after seeing how steep the slopes were, he decided to ski another time.

IN COMPARING THEIR farms to ours, Joe said that the average plot is two acres. The wealthier farmers may have as many as ten of the two-acre plots, but they will not be altogether. One of his uncles has a dairy, large for Switzerland, forty cows. All of the cattle in Switzerland wear a bell around their necks, and his relatives were surprised that Joe didn't have bells on his cattle. The average dairy farm will have about thirty acres, but these will not be all together, either.

THE HOUSES IN Switzerland are all of brick construction, then stuccoed and are all real large, two, three and four stories high. The barns are either on the ground floor, or attached to the end of the house. Their water supply all comes from the mountain streams and springs. It is all purified, before it is piped to the houses. There are no water wells in Switzerland.

THE GROCERY STORES, called "consumes," are much smaller than our large stores. Joe said that the average store is a little larger than our little store in Umbarger. The stores where meat is sold are separate from the grocery stores. They have many kinds of sausages and cheeses. They do not have steaks and roasts, as we know them. They use much more pork than beef.

The cemeteries are all right beside the churches. Because of a shortage of ground for cemeteries, when a grave is twenty years old, it is dug up, and any bones are put in a special place in the cemetery, and the grave is prepared for another body. The bodies are all buried in pine boxes, clothed in paper burial clothes, to speed deterioration.

THERE ARE NO buses, for public conveyance, in the cities, but there are trolley cars. The main sports are skiing, ice skating, roller skating and bowling.

JOE VISITED ALL of his mothers relatives, and part of his fathers, but time did not allow him to visit them all. He plans to go back for another visit, in about two years and this time, Glennis plans to go. Just to hear him talk and see the films makes us want to go see the sights.

MR. AND MRS. W. P. Janssen are grandparents, again. Darrell and Mary Hersley, of Harrison, Idaho, are parents of a little girl. She joins three brothers and two sisters. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hersley of Hereford.

MRS. JOHN BOMFELD is visiting her parents, George and Rose Liekhus, while her husband John, is on maneuvers, with the United States Army.

MR. AND MRS. Larry Wiek and children, from Dalhart, spent the weekend with his parents, the John Wicks. Another visitor in the Wiek home on Sunday, was Margaret Frank and daughter Lisa, from Lubbock.

WE WENT TO Amarillo Tuesday evening, to help our little granddaughter, Shanna Lynn, celebrate her birthday. Shanna is the daughter of Don and Gracie Raef.

MRS. FRANK BEZNER, of Amarillo, was honored with a pink and blue shower, Sunday, March 18, in the Catechical Building, in Umbarger. Hostesses were Mrs. Linn Bezner and the Misses Valerie Friemel and Jan Wiek. Mrs. Bezner is the former Jeannette Friemel.

THE UMBARGER 4-H club met Monday evening, March 19, in the Columbus Club Hall. Special guests were Becky Hall, Randall County Home Demonstration Agent, and her assistant, Julie Wheeler. Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Wheeler gave demonstrations to the members on gifts to make for their mothers for Mothers Day. Craig Hinger, owner and operator of The Bruce Spruce Ranch, in Pagosa Springs, Colorado, showed slides of wild life and vegetation and the mountainous area around Pagosa Springs. In the business meeting, projects were discussed for club members. Refreshments were served to the guests and 28 members by the Milt Suthers family.

SEVERAL UMBARGER GIRLS attended the Area 1 meeting of the Future Homemakers of America, held March 16 and 17, in Lubbock, Texas. Sharon Raemakers and Liesa Ferguson, from Junior High and Donna Hartman, Junita Hartman and Valerie Friemel, from the senior high, with Barbara Harman as sponsor, went from Umbarger. Two Vacations Offered Students

For those who feel an attack of springtime wanderlust coming on, the West Texas State University Student Activities Council is offering two very distinctive travel tours over the Spring Break, scheduled April 15-23. For intrepid, adventure-seeking folk, SAC is offering a five-day float trip through the swift-water and rapids of Canyonlands National Park and the white-water of Cataract Canyon of the Colorado River in Utah.

And for those of a more exotic bent-of-mind, SAC is featuring a week of sun-and-sand on the beaches of Waikiki in Hawaii.

The canyon boat trip, priced at $135 per person, will begin at 8 a.m. April 16 at Green River, Utah, and finish 144 miles downstream at Hite on Lake Powell on April 20. The expedition passes through miles of scenery, ancient Indian ruins, and colorful side canyons.

The fare includes meals cooked outdoors by the boatmen. All camping equipment, including bedrolls, water proof duffel bags, camera boxes and life-preservers are furnished, and travelers need only bring clothing and personal items, said SAC program director Jim Holston.

Boats will be filled in order of reservation. Reservation deadline is April 2, at which time the full fare is due. The trip will be conducted by Canyonlands Expeditions of Kanab, Utah.

The Hawaiian trip is priced at $299 and includes round-trip air fare from Dallas to Honolulu aboard a Braniff 747 and seven nights lodging at Denny's Imperial Hawaii Hotel. The group is scheduled to leave Dallas on April 14.

The Hawaiian holiday is not a regimented tour, and the group will have eight days free to "soak up the sun on Waikiki, ride the surf at Makaha Beach, and visit the Polynesian Cultural Center, Waimea Falls and Pearl Harbor."

After-dark entertainment ranges the gamut from native music, to opera and open-air rock concerts, Holston said.

Persons interested in either tour should contact Holston, at West Texas State University, Canyon, Texas 79016.

and others have been shown at the Museum of Modern Art in Oklahoma City, the Country Store in Austin, and the Cinema Theater in Amarillo.

She has won two first places in mixed media at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo. Her paintings also hang at North Texas State University at Denton and Oral Roberts University at Tulsa.

WT Netters Take Break After Tourney

West Texas State University's tennis team will take a break of nearly two weeks before continuing its season. The Buffaloes won their own five-team invitational tournament this past week and don't play again until Saturday, March 31.

When the Buffaloes of coach David Kent start back into action they will host Abilene Christian College and Amarillo College in a pair of matches March 31.

West Texas downed Wichita State and Kansas State by 9-0 margins this past weekend and then halted Oral Roberts University, 6-3, and edged Missouri Valley Conference defending champion North Texas State, 5-4, to earn the tourney title.

West Texas State number one singles player Bill Marsh was 2-2 during the tournament and is also even for the season at 5-5 as the Buffaloes pushed their overall record to 8-2. Mike Bolton, the number two singles player, has a 6-4 season mark. John Phillips, playing the number three spot, is 6-4. Dale Corbin, the number four man, is 8-2, number five man Joe Carrick is 9-1, and sixth man Scott Pool is 6-3.

In doubles, Marsh and Bolton have an 8-2 season record. Phillips and Corbin are 8-2 as number two and Pool and Carrick have a 7-2 doubles standard.

Spring Drills Open Mon. For Returning Buffaloes

West Texas State University's Buffaloes will open spring football drills Monday and will work five days a week until the spring semester break April 13.

School starts again April 24 and the final spring game is tentatively scheduled for Saturday, April 28, at 7:30 p.m. in Hereford.

"The spring game was first set for May 5 and the April 28 date could be changed for the final spring game, depending upon how many practice sessions are postponed because of bad weather," said head coach Gene Mayfield.

The Buffaloes will work five days per week for the first three weeks, until the spring school break.

The Buffaloes return nine offensive and nine defensive starters from last fall's team which was tri-champion in the Missouri Valley Conference along with Louisville and Drake.

Star running back Billy Pritchett will miss spring practice because of recent surgery to his right knee. The 6-4, 247-pound senior is expected to be at full strength with the Buffs in the fall.

West Texas State opens its 11-game 1973 schedule at home on Sept. 8 against Drake, a team which administered a 40-12 defeat to the Buffaloes last fall.

The Buffaloes will play six home games in 1973 and will be one of the toughest schedules faced by a West Texas State team. Other home games are Sept. 29 against Northern Illinois, Oct. 20 against Utah State, Nov. 10 against Tampa, Nov. 17 against Southern Mississippi and Nov. 24 against Louisville.

On the road the Buffaloes face Tulsa Sept. 15, North Texas State Sept. 22, Lamar University Oct. 6, Wichita State Oct. 27 and New Mexico State Nov. 3.

Drake, Louisville, Tulsa, North Texas, Wichita and New Mexico State are MVC opponents.

There will be three day games and the remainder will start at 7:30 p.m. The Buffs' Sept. 22 game against North Texas State in Denton will start at 2 p.m. The Wichita State contest is set for 1:30 p.m., as is the Nov. 24 season final in Kimbrough Memorial Stadium against Louisville. Utah State will be the homecoming contest.

Canyon Writers Take Awards

Two Canyon women, Mrs. Glenna Wilson and Mrs. Jean Galloway, took second and third place in an article-writing contest recently sponsored by the Panhandle Pen Women. Mrs. Pauline Robertson, of Amarillo, was the first-place winner.

Winners were announced in a workshop meeting held Tuesday morning at the Quality Inn in Amarillo. Judge for the competition was Troy Martin, publisher of the Canyon News.

The three top-rated articles, including "Life's Unearned Increments" by Glenna Wilson and "Keep That Job and Like It" by Jean Galloway, were read to the entire group by Mrs. Julia Van Beber of Dumas, contest chairman.

Mrs. Wilson, a retired nurse, is known in Canyon as an accomplished artist as well as writer. She illustrated Grace Warwick's book, "The Canyon Story," and has written numerous pieces of fiction, non-fiction and poetry.

Now in her seventh year as a typing and shorthand teacher in the Canyon school system, Mrs. Galloway was named last fall as first runner-up as "Business Teacher of the Year, District 16." She has had many articles published in professional journals and religious magazines. An article on making film loops for the classroom appeared in the March-April issue of "Business Education World."

The workshop was followed by a luncheon featuring Dr. Walter R. McDonald, associate professor of English at Texas Tech University, as guest speaker.

Food Stamps Issue Date Is Delayed

Implementation of state-administered federal food stamp program for needy families in Randall County has been delayed until Oct. 1, it was learned this week.

County Judge Woody Pond, who announced last fall that Randall County would become part of the food stamp program on Aug. 1, said Tuesday he has received notification of the delay.

A letter from Raymond W. Vowell, commissioner of the state Department of Public Welfare, indicates the reason for the delay is hesitance on the part of the U.S. Postal Service to continue as issuing agent for the food stamps.

Vowell said other avenues of issuance must be found.

Currently, needy families in the county are able to receive foodstuffs through a federally-financed commodities distribution program.

Dr. Bush Attacks Learning Problems

"Children with learning disabilities" is the current phrase used to describe those youngsters who seem to have trouble learning.

Once upon a time such children were either ignored or crowned with a dunce cap by teachers helpless to cope with them.

But now, thanks to highly trained experts like Dr. Wilma Jo Bush, psychologist and professor in the area of learning disorders at West Texas State University, educators have come up with new ways of helping the slow or handicapped child.

West Texas State University now turns out teachers endorsed to help children with language and learning disabilities, the mentally retarded, those needing speech and hearing therapy, and other handicapped children requiring special approaches in teaching.

Dr. Bush returned to the WTSU campus this year after an absence of two years spent in advanced study at Texas Tech and one year teaching at Pan American University. Most of her work is now directed toward training teachers.

But the career of this WT professor began after 16 years of early married life devoted to her family. "When I went back to school, I asked myself what I really wanted to get into. I knew I was interested in children with problems. So when I went back to work, I taught retarded children. That started me out on my career."

A native of Princeton, she had received her bachelor's degree from North Texas State University in 1936. After teaching one year in Wylie and Sanger public schools, she left to give full-time to the role of being Mrs. Guy E. Bush, and mother of a small daughter.

Yet, while a housewife, this energetic and talented woman developed an interest in photography that blossomed into a part-time profession. "I had a darkroom in a closet next to the kitchen, and washed prints in the bathroom," she recalls. "It started out as a hobby, but eventually I even did pictures of all the children in two school systems. I worked free lance, taking the pictures with my little 35 mm. camera. And I did my own developing, enlarging, and tinting. It paid for my hobby."

At present she keeps alive her skill and interest in photography, by photographing teaching materials for special displays or as visual aids. In the mid-50's, Dr. Bush and her family moved to Canyon. While her husband served as director of base education at Amarillo Air Force Base, she taught in the Amarillo public schools and worked toward a Master of Education degree, granted in 1955. Then in 1957, she joined the staff at WTSU.

All of this activity would seem challenge enough to the average woman. But Dr. Bush's interest in the learning problems of children spurred her on to qualify as a certified and licensed psychologist.

During the summers of 1956-59, the WT professor interned at a clinic, "Psychological Services for Children," in Denver, Colo. At the end of that time she became a licensed psychologist in Texas, enabling her to do psychological testing and diagnosis. She has served as a consulting psychologist for the Amarillo Cerebral Palsy Center, and as psychologist for the Killgore Children's Psychiatric Center and the Texas Rehabilitation Commission.

Dr. Bush feels her testing work with individual cases is an important adjunct to teaching special education and psychology courses at WTSU. "It is very important that anyone teaching continue to test," she says. "I see children referred to me by doctors, teachers, and principals. Some of my work is in vocational assessment—to see if there are conflicts between aptitudes and interests."

Out of Dr. Bush's work with emotionally disturbed children at the clinic in Denver as well as her teaching activities at WTSU came two books which she co-authored, "Aids to Psychological Teaching" and "Diagnosing Learning Disorders."

Parents of children I tested would say to me, "You have told me what is wrong—now what could I do about it?" Her first book was an answer to such a question. Dr. Bush compiled a duplicated list of "aids" suggested by graduate students, actually teachers on all grade levels, in her summer class on learning disabilities. "The book was circulated and handed out freely. It was very much in demand because the 'aids' were designed on grade level. Finally, Dr. Newell C. Kephart, head of the Purdue Achievement Center, urged me to publish it and I did."

As for the second book, she says, "I awakened at 3 a.m. one morning and I knew I needed a book on diagnosing to supplement the first." Dr. Kenneth Waugh, director of guidance and Testing at WTSU, collaborated with her on the volume.

As a psychologist and teacher, Dr. Bush has opinions about what has created the current focus on learning problems. "In a competing society such as ours, especially after launching of the Russian Sputnik, teachers felt the pressure to bring their students up to a certain standard. Children were pushed to progress faster and faster, and that made it difficult for children with perceptual problems. As the group moves faster, the more you see of disabilities." She gave as an example of a child with perceptual problems, one who sees four lines on a blackboard without interpreting them as a square.

Dr. Bush also sees the need for continuing study of learning problems. "We do not know what environmental factors acting on the physiological body do to create these problems. I think that biochemistry is going to tell us much about this."

Dr. Wilma Bush, associate professor of elementary education at WTSU, is also a licensed psychologist and co-author of two books on learning disabilities. She is pictured before an oil portrait of her daughter in her new home at 2005 3rd Ave.

years. Then, at Cleveland, Okla., his teams compiled 12-1 and 8-2 records in 1950 and 1951 respectively.

For the next three years, Mr. Kerbel coached at Breckenridge High School where his teams rolled up a 30-4-2 record and won a pair of Class AAA state crowns.

Moving to Amarillo High School, Mr. Kerbel guided the Sandies to a 25-8 mark in three years and then moved to Texas Tech in 1958, where he directed the Red Raider offense until he accepted the head coaching job at WTSU.

For excitement, Mr. Kerbel's teams were hard to beat as the tough head coach fielded players with the ability to excite enthusiasm like Pistol Pete Pedro, Mercury Morris and Duane Thomas.

Two of Mr. Kerbel's teams made bowl appearances, once at the Sun Bowl at El Paso when the Buffaloes beat Ohio University 15-4 in the 1962 outing, and again in 1967, when the Buffs won the Junior Rose Bowl by downing San Fernando 35-13.

In 1969, Mr. Kerbel was named athletic director of WTSU following the retirement of Frank Kimbrough.

It was under his leadership as athletic director that WTSU was admitted to the Missouri Valley Conference in June 1970.

Mr. Kerbel was born in 1921 in Dallas. He graduated from Seminole, Okla., High School in 1940 after competing in football, wrestling and track. He played freshman football at the University of Oklahoma before entering the Marine Corps in 1941, where he served until 1946. He was graduated from the University of Oklahoma in 1947.

Mr. Kerbel married Francis Davis of Seminole in 1944.

Survivors include his wife, sons, Joe Jr. of Dallas and Sammy of the home; daughters, Mrs. Shary Kates of Fort Worth, and Paula and Kathy of the home; sisters, Mrs. Pat Cooper of Fort Smith, Ark., and Mrs. Julie Comstock of Dallas; and a brother, Bobby of Las Vegas, Nev.

Several bills propose that municipal courts be made courts of record and that municipal judges be lawyers, Louder said.

Louder said he is watching closely several bills calling for a shift of responsibility from the state or county to the city for certain functions. He cited legislative action last year which shifted responsibility to city police for enforcement and surveillance in certain cases. The bills, however, provide no state financial aid to go along with the shift in responsibility.

Judge Pond is most concerned personally with the efforts in the Legislature to restructure the state's legal system, making all members of the judiciary appointed and eliminating lay judges.

He expects, however, the restructuring effort will move from the legislature to the committee which is tasked with revising the state constitution.

County commissioners here have gone on record opposing the revision.

Pond said another bill which would affect the county is one which would allow the commissioners court to apply zoning restrictions on rural areas within the county.

Pond said he favors some measure of authority for commissioners to handle zoning matters in rural areas, but stressed that any power for such authority "must be handled discretely."

County Clerk Hutton faces some mighty changes in his operation if several bills proposed to the legislators become law.

Several bills, each of them about 200 pages thick, call for a unitary primary in Texas, a system of primary elections which would involve state financing and limited political party involvement.

The primary elections would be handled through the county rather than through the political parties and a board to supervise the election would be established consisting of the county clerk, sheriff, and heads of the bona fide political parties.

Several bills would also change the dates of the primaries from the spring of the year to the fall, in late August and early September.

The major bill which Hutton says could pose a major problem for Randall County repeals counties' abilities to use punch-card voting to handle elections.

Randall County was a leader in pioneering use of punch-card computer voting in the state and Hutton said a repeal of the law which allows that type voting could mean tremendous cost to the county.

County commissioners Monday gave Hutton preliminary permission to go to Austin when hearings on the punch-card bill are called to testify in opposition.

Other bills, Hutton says, combine all voting for a county—voting in city, county, school, hospital, etc., elections—out of the hands of the various governmental entities and turns control of the elections over to a central election board or committee.

Another bill would virtually eliminate election day in Texas, Hutton says, because it calls for unlimited absentee balloting. He said the bill would mean anyone could vote absentee any time during a 20-day period.

Hutton said 40 bills already introduced in the legislature would have an effect on elections in the state.

Local law officials are watching legislative action on bills which would reduce the penalty for possession of marijuana, reestablish the death penalty and further remodel the state penal code.

cently as the result of the possibility that a petition will be presented Canyon and Amarillo school boards seeking annexation by the Amarillo district of 11 sections of land now in the Canyon district.

In the event both school boards could not reach accord on the annexation question, the matter would be turned over to the county school trustees for a decision.

Currently, the board of trustees has two members who live in Amarillo school district and two persons who live in Canyon school district. A fifth board member resigned recently and no replacement has been named.
